BEEF RECALL

VO: 20

Contaminated fresh ground beef caused a possible E. coli outbreak that killed two people and sent 16 others to hospitals, federal health officials said Monday. Twenty-eight people may have become ill after eating beef produced by Fairbank Farms of Ashville, N.Y., the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reported. All but three of the suspected infections are in the northeastern U.S. and 18 are in New England, said CDC spokeswoman Lola Scott Russell.

HEALTH CARE REFORM LATEST PKG 2:12

LOURDES MELUZA- WASHINGTON, DC

Between House Democratic leaders and a landmark vote on President Barack Obama's promised remake of the nation's health care system. Unfortunately for the Democrats, the unresolved issues are among the most vexing out there: abortion and immigration. And although they're confident they'll succeed, Democratic leaders have yet to nail down the votes they'll need to pass their sweeping bill. They're aiming for floor action to begin as early as Friday and finish before Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

JOBLESS BENEFITS

VO:14

Recognizing that a weak economy still needs a government boost, the Senate voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to provide the jobless with up to 20 weeks in additional unemployment benefits and expand a first-time homebuyer tax credit to include a far larger pool of people entering the dormant housing market.

INTEREST RATE

VO:23

The Federal Reserve is expected to leave interest rates at their already record low levels. The central bank concludes its two-day policy-setting session this afternoon. Experts think it will keep the target range for its bank lending rate at zero to 0.25 percent. That would leave commercial banks' prime lending rates at about 3.25 percent, the lowest in decades. The prime rate is used to peg rates on home equity loans, certain credit cards and other consumer loans.

JOBLESS BENEFITS

VO:25

The House could be voting as early as today on a Senate-passed bill that would extend unemployment benefits and expand a homebuyer tax credit. The bill passed the Senate with a 98-0 vote yesterday, and is expected to easily win approval in the House and be sent to President Barack Obama for his signature. The $24 billion package gives the jobless at least 14 weeks of additional benefits, while those in states with unemployment rates of 8.5 percent and above get six weeks on top of that. More than 1 million out-of-work people were expected to run out of benefits by the end of the year.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE BLANCA ROSA VILCHEZ. NEW YORK PKG 1:54

The unemployment rate has surpassed 10 percent for the first time since 1983 -- and is likely to go higher. Nearly 16 million people can't find jobs even though the worst recession since the Great Depression has apparently ended. The Labor Department said Friday that the economy shed a net total of 190,000 jobs in October, less than the downwardly revised 219,000 lost in September. August job losses were also revised lower, to 154,000 from 201,000. But the loss of jobs last month exceeded economists' estimates. It's the 22nd straight month the U.S. economy has shed jobs, the longest on records dating back 70 years. Counting those who have settled for part-time jobs or stopped looking for work, the unemployment rate would be 17.5 percent, the highest on records dating from 1994.

HEALTH CARE BILL

VO: 24

House Democrats acknowledged they don't yet have the votes to pass a sweeping overhaul of the nation's health care system, and signaled they may push back the vote until Sunday or early next week. Majority Leader Steny Hoyer, D-Md., told reporters in a conference call Friday that the make-or-break vote on President Barack Obama's top priority that had been set for Saturday could face delay. The apparent problem: Democrats have yet to resolve intraparty disputes over abortion funding and illegal immigrants' access to health care.

OBAMA: JOBS AND ECONOMY BLANCA ROSA VILCHEZ. NEW YORK PKG 2:08
President Barack Obama, facing a 10.2 percent U.S. unemployment rate, will announce Thursday plans for a jobs summit in December, an administration official said. Obama will make the announcement at the White House before departing on a weeklong Asia trip. The U.S. economy began growing again in the third quarter but unemployment has continued to climb, battered by the worst recession since the Great Depression. Unemployment jumped to a 26-1/2 year high in October and the White House has warned that it could get a little worse before it starts getting better.
